Young Marines serve as extrication drill 'victims'

The Gilead, Bethel and Shelburne (N.H.) fire departments and Bethel Rescue teamed up last week for an annual vehicle extrication training at Bog Brook Training Center in Gilead. The training also serves as a demonstration for members of the Young Marines program, which meets each year at Bog Brook. As other youngsters (not shown) looked on, the emergency personnel set up a scenario in which two vehicles, each carrying several Young Marines, collided. Firefighters broke the windows and cut the doors and tops off to free the "victims." While doing so, they covered them in blankets to protect them from flying debris. Many of the young people recently got their drivers' licenses, said GFD Chief Ken Cole, so the enactment of what can happen during a crash reinforced the need for developing safe driving habits. Some think G'wood should negotiate for even more mill land

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Setting the date for a public hearing on the proposal by Saunders Mill investors to have the town take ownership of a one-acre, PCB-contaminated lot on the property was a late scratch at the Greenwood Selectmen's meeting Tuesday, but the topic still came up.

"Has the town given any thought to negotiating with the investors?" Planning Board member Norm Millett asked the selectmen.

"If we're going to take that liability, I think we ought to get something else in return ... to sweeten the pot."

"I think we're going to be OK, Norman," Board Chairman Fred Henderson replied. "We're not going to get into a mess, I can tell you that."

Millett was not convinced. "If you don't do some legwork ahead of time, you won't have any answers for the people."

But local historian, and Locke Mills native, Steve Seames, is convinced he has one possible answer — having Greenwood take more than the single acre, other land that would be of genuine value to the town.

"In looking over the general layout of the present village, and the village of the 1880-1950s, it appears to me that this proposed land transaction could be very advantageous to the town of Greenwood," Seames told The Citizen.

"If the owners of the mill are willing to give, in a gesture of good faith, the low meadow lot north of the Mt. Abram Cemetery on Route 26, and the two or three lots at the corner of Bird Hill Road and Route 26, it opens some possibility for burial-ground expansion, and a space that is large enough and appropriate for the Town Hall to be relocated to if it can."

Pavers readying to roll

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The half-million dollars in roadwork (much of that in paving costs) Greenwood voters agreed to at their annual Town Meeting in May should be a reality by the end of August.

Town selectmen Tuesday accepted a bid of $420,277 from Bruce A. Manzer, Inc. of Anson for the work, which includes seven sections of various lengths of Vernon Street, Gore Road, Old County Road, Rowe Hill Road and the Greenwood Road (two sections each on the last two roads). The town received four bids on the package, with Manzer's being the lowest. The others were from Pine Tree Paving ($432,512), RC & Sons Paving ($486,600) and Pike Industries ($594,490).

The bond was a first for Greenwood, which previously had been raising $100,000 to $150,000 annually to "just keep band-aiding our roads," as Budget Committee member Fran Piccirillo argued at Town Meeting.

The work underwritten by the bond will be directed at the town's better roads, in an effort to stabilize them for 10 years, during which time the worse-off roads (such as Richardson Hollow and Patch Mountain) can be attached on a section-by-section basis.

Manzer is expected to begin work within the next two weeks, Road Foreman Alan Seames said.

River steward now part of fishing advocate's legacy

By SCOTT OLSEN

"It was all Rocky's idea," said Scott Stone, current president of the Upper Andro Anglers Alliance and Board member of the Mollycodd Chapter of Trout Unlimited.

Rocky Freda, who passed away suddenly last August, owned and operated Sun Valley Sports & Guide Service and was a Master Maine Guide.

He was also a staunch advocate for fly-fishing and conservation in the Bethel area.

Stone, who enjoyed many fishing trips and long conversations with Rocky, said, "Rocky envisioned a collaboration between Maine Department of Inland Fisheries & Wildlife, local businesses (the UAAA) and other fly-fishing and conservation partners, such as Trout Unlimited, that would work together to create a sustainable, blue-ribbon trout fishing destination in the region."

Stone is also on the Board of Directors for the University of Maine 4-H Camp & Learning Center at Bryant Pond.

After some discussion with John Boland at IF&W and Ryder Scott, program director at Bryant Pond, he saw an opportunity for collaboration that could include an education and outreach component. As a result, the Upper Andro River Steward Project was established.

In May Kara Ray was hired by the Bryant Pond 4-H Camp as the river steward.

She is a senior at the University of Maine (Orono), studying zoology, and is also a Registered Maine Guide. After some training with Boland, Ray has been working with local IF&W biologists, volunteers and angling groups doing research that includes angler surveys, collecting creel census data, and keeping a detailed record of fishing activity on the Upper Andro and some of its tributaries.

She has also been teaching

Off piste drop with zip

By ALISON ALOISIO

Starting Saturday, Sunday River will offer a new way to get down the mountain, fast.

The new Zip Line Tours provide six zip lines that traverse the wooded area between the ski trails of Mixing Bowl, Tourist Trap, Outta Here, and Thataway, according to a resort press release.

The lines, made of heavy cable, range between 100 and 300 feet in length.

Riders wear a harness that attaches them to the line, and they also hold on to straps for support.

A tour includes equipment fitting, orientation, and a guided expedition through each of the six stations. Participants must be at least three feet tall and weigh between 60 and 300 pounds.

The top speed riding the line is approximately 25 miles per hour, according to Sunday River spokesman Darcy Liberty.

Riders average 40 feet above the ground, with the highest point 80 feet in the air.

The riders launch from either a tree platform or the ground, Liberty said.

"Guides are located at the ends of each line and use a stopping block in advance of each end platform to slow participants down," she said. "In most scenarios, the slack in the cable will slow people down well in advance."

The zip lines are similar to those at other Boyne resorts in Michigan and Montana, she said.

For the summer, zip line tours will be open Fridays through Sundays from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. and are $39 for all ages.

Reservations are not required but are recommended (800-543-2754).

Tours will remain open through Columbus Day weekend, close briefly, and will re-open for the winter shortly after opening day of the ski season.

'Footprints of Billy' to benefit Mahoosuc Kids

By ALISON ALOISIO

An Aug. 21 fundraiser in memory of an Albany couple's grandson will aid the Mahoosuc Kids Association.

The family event, which will include raffles, door prizes, trivia games and a dessert bar, will take place at the Sunday River Brew Pub in Bethel, beginning at 5 p.m.

The proceeds will go in part toward MKA's 2011 Summer Quest program, which provides academic and cultural enrichment as well as other activities for SAD 44 children.

One portion of this year's summer program (Title I) was trimmed from five weeks to four due to a drop in funding. The fundraising monies will go to supplement that program next summer.

"We don't really know what the future funding will be," said MKA director Julie Hart Monday.

"Footprints of Billy"

The Aug. 21 fundraiser was proposed by MKA Board of Trustees member Linda Champagne of Albany. Her 14-month-old grandson, Billy Falco, died Dec. 22 of Sudden Unexplained Death in Children. SUDC occurs in children usually between the ages of 1 and 3, and the child's death remains unexplained even after a thorough investigation. It is considered similar to Sudden Infant Death Syndrome, which describes such circumstances of death in children under a year old.

The Champagne's daughter and her family live in Quincy, Mass. After Billy's death, the family established "Footprints of Billy — The William James Falco Foundation," intended to enrich and enhance children's lives through encouraging local

END-OF-SUMMER CONCERT

To the Editor:

The Mahoosuc Community Band will have its end-of-the-summer concert Monday, Aug. 16, at 7 p.m. at the Gould Academy Auditorium in Bethel.

We have added new players for the summer. Several young people from Telstar and Gould Academy are playing instruments and joining us for the final concert of the season. Because of the added number of players, we are having the last concert at Gould, where the auditorium is larger.

Refreshments will be served after the concert. That gives everyone a chance to mingle and meet the musicians. While the concert is free to the public, donations are accepted and help provide music for the band.

The Mahoosuc Community Band continues to provide music for the people of the surrounding area and encourages participation at many levels, from students who want to advance their skills to grandparents who just love to play music. And we have one grandfather and grandson both playing trombone in this concert.

Anyone interested in bringing out their old instrument and dusting off the valves or pads is welcome to come anytime we're practicing. The band encourages all abilities in the goal of promoting music in our communities. Rehearsals for the fall will start Monday night, Sept. 13, at 7 p.m. in the basement of the West Parish Congregational Church in Bethel.

For more information contact our director Patricia Boyle-Wight 824-8453 pboylewight@aol.com or our president Kathleen DeVore 875-2364 katdev@aol.com.

PIANO FESTIVAL THANKS

To the Editor:

On behalf of Tamara Poddubnaya, artistic director of Music without Borders Fourth International Piano Festival at Gould Academy, I reciprocate the warm sentiments and kind comments expressed in Stan Howe's letter and Lorrie Hoeh's "West Bethel" column published in last week's Citizen.

Professor Poddubnaya's decision to bring Music without Borders to the Gould campus in 2007 was soon affirmed by the enthusiastic reception by Bethel residents and summer visitors, alike, and their respectful attendance at so many recitals by her students, who include some of the most promising members of the new generation of classical pianists.

Our legendary Maine hospitality has grown with each successive season, and festival participants have fallen in love with the campus, the town, and the people. At the risk of over-looking someone, I mention these generous citizens:

Scott Davis and his staff at the Sudbury Inn and Dick and Gretchen Razor and the Bethel Inn staff helped us reduce costs by generously providing all breakfasts and many dinners to festival participants. Given July's record-breaking heat and humidity, the pianists were delighted to cool off in the Bethel Inn pool each evening, before they returned to practice back on campus! Scott and Dick also asked several of our pianists to play in their dining rooms during the early supper hour, and festival pianists played at Sunday services at the West Parish Congregational Church.

We appreciated the campus administrative support of Peter Rackliffe and Kelly Scotti and our renewed acquaintances with Gould's very patient and understanding night watchmen.

Sally and Dick Taylor welcomed us for the first recital, on July 2, with vases of flowers from their garden for our stage. Many fans helped distribute our poster. Marvin and Tineke Ouwinga worked their usual magic on all sorts of things, including a dinner at their house, early morning swims at Songo Pond, a constant supply of fresh-baked cookies, and coordination of home hospitality: delicious meals and good conversation at the homes of Bob and Lida Iles, Mary Haberman, Jan Stowell (with Ginny Gamble's able assistance), and Dick and Lorrie Hoeh. Our thanks, too, go to Brian Scheidegger and his Ordway Dining Center staff, for lunches and many wonderful dinners.

Charlie Casey showed up at Vogt House one evening with home-baked apple pies and ice cream. Tineke Ouwinga and Steve Chandler became our unofficial ushers, handing out programs to familiar faces and welcoming newcomers as if they had always been around. Stan Howe not only invited Tamara and the students to his Broad Street home for a tour and late-evening desserts, he gave a commemorative town medallion and a personally-inscribed copy of his "Bethel, Maine: A Brief History" to each participant and invited them to return to choose piano scores from the vast music library of the late Edward (Ned) Hastings. Lynne Kulik graciously provided a ride to the Portland airport for Festival veteran Robert Poortinga, who returned to the Netherlands at the end of the second week. A good number of "fans" generously donated funds to support expenses, including the considerable costs of piano tuning and maintenance. Given the "workout" the pianos received from hours of daily practice and evening performances, as well as the stresses posed by July's prolonged heat and humidity, master piano technician Mel Fletcher and his sons, Jamin and Jeff, provided technical support "above and beyond the call."

This year, 12 regular student recitals and seven special concerts, including two faculty recitals by Prof. Poddubnaya, were offered at no charge to the community. On the final night, July 21, undeterred by the summer's worst storm sweeping through town, a SRO audience participated in a magical evening of great music and community spirit in the auditorium of McLaughlin Science Center. The members in this year's festival represented several countries and speak a total of eleven languages at home: English, Georgian, Russian, Bulgarian, Macedonian, French, Farsi, Dutch, Frisian (a dialect of coastal Netherlands), Chinese, and German. Truly, in this age of "going global," Music without Borders brings the World — "live" — to Gould Academy and Bethel.

While so many have told us they were already anticipating next year's Festival, fans will be pleased to recall that Professor Poddubnaya typically returns to campus to present Steinway Series recitals with one or two of her students during the regular school year. Notices of these special events will go out to our expanding e-mail list (Request to be on this list at dchristie@roadrunner.com) and also appear in the Citizen and on the Gould Academy website.

With many thanks to all who helped make this fourth season of Music without Borders a resounding success.

not be renewed and made usable in its present location [because of mold, Bethel Citizen, March 18, 2010].

Town Manager Kim Sparks said Wednesday that other residents have raised the possibility of similar arrangements, some involving different parcels of mill property, such as the dam lot.

Sparks said she expected those possibilities to be discussed at the next selectmen's meeting, Aug. 17 at 5 p.m.

Setting a date for a public hearing on the investors' initial offer had originally been on the agenda for Monday's meeting, but was removed, Sparks said, at the request of Linda Walbridge, director of the Western Maine Economic Development Council, who is working with the group.

"She said they weren't ready for that yet," the town manager said.

MKA budget update
The MKA program has been struggling to deal with recent funding losses on two fronts,

Beginning in the July 1 fiscal year, SAD 44 is contributing only $5,000 instead of the $20,000 provided in earlier years. And in May MKA learned it would receive $30,000 less than expected for the coming year from a five-year federal grant. Instead of receiving $86,000, MKA is getting $57,000. To partially offset the cuts, Hart said fees for the fall's after-school programs at the elementary level have been raised, while those at the high and middle schools will double ($25 per semester, instead of $25 per year).

"We won't make up the $30,000, but we'll get a little more," she said. "There won't be any positions cut. We'll be tighter in what we spend the money on."

She also said a partnership with the Bryant Pond 4-H Camp will be reduced by 35 percent, an amount equal to the funding cut.

Ideas for future forest rallies

WOODSTOCK—An official with the New England Forest Rally would like to encourage more participation by townspeople in activities associated with future races, Town Manager Vern Maxfield told selectmen Tuesday. The race, which took place two weeks ago, runs past the Concord Pond area. Maxfield said suggestions such as a concession booth to benefit area organizations were made. He also said that while there were a few complaints, such as roadside trash, this year, "people love [the event] as a whole." He said "no parking" signs will be put up in some places next year. In other business, Maxfield said the Fire Department's pumper trucks passed a recent pump test "with flying colors," and that lights in the Fire Station had been replaced with more energy-efficient ones.

Young brother and sister found safe near Step Falls

By TERRY KARKOS, Sun Media Wire

Two children who simply out-hiked their parents on the Bear River's Step Falls Trail early Tuesday afternoon scrambled state and local rescuers when their panicked parents called for help, Newry Fire Chief Bruce Pierce said.

Before Newry firefighters, Maine State Police troopers and wardens and a Med-Care Ambulance crew could arrive to begin looking for the missing children, the parents located 15-year-old Drew and 9-year-old Emily farther up the trail, Pierce said.

Pierce didn't get their last names, but said he believes they were from either Massachusetts or New Jersey.

"The father said they were hiking up Step Falls along the stream and Mom and Dad stopped, but the kids walked on ahead," Pierce said.

The falls — a series of cascades with a total drop of 200 feet — are on Wight Brook, which drains the south-eastern slope of Baldpate Mountain. The falls, which were The Nature Conservancy's first preserve in Maine, are located in the southern end of the rugged Grafton Notch State Park.

After calling for the youths and not hearing them respond, the parents "got nervous" when they reached a point on the trail beyond which they didn't think their children had gone, but they had, Pierce said.

Because there is no cell phone service in the area, a third person drove to an area with coverage and alerted authorities.

With troopers and wardens already en route to 176 Bear River Road (Route 26), Newry firefighters and Med-Care were sent at 1:10 p.m. to help look for the children, who by then had been missing for about 90 minutes.

"Jason Powers and I went up there and we arrived at 1:25 p.m., and the folks had found their kids," Pierce said. "When we got to the parking lot, they were there."

Neither youth had a compass. Pierce said he was glad they were found safe and uninjured.

"Those are the calls we like to get," he said.

World Guy - Walking for Diabetes Awareness

Friday afternoon the World Guy, his dog and his partner walked through Mayville headed toward Rumford then on to Acadia along Route 2. The world is a globe about eight feet tall covered with a world map which had "WorldGuy.org" lettered over the Indian Ocean. From the website we find that he is Erik Bendl walking for Diabetes Awareness. When I got photos of the two men and dog they had stopped at the entrance to Birch Wood while their dog, Nice, got a drink from drainage ditch water. Although his Blog sort of rambles, one could gather they had just previously climbed Mt. Washington at least part way and from there headed to Maine. This year Bendl's walking commitment runs from Washington, D.C., to Acadia.

Bethel Ambulance Service-Completed 36 years of service on July 1.

Bethel Ambulance Service is run by trained, dedicated citizens. For over 36 years it has been a publicly operated service. Recently Cheryl Bennett, director of the BAS, and David Pratt one of the service's paramedics gave me a tour of the center and their newest ambulance. They would like to see others come for the same kind of tour I received.

Mr. Pratt wrote a nutshell summary of how he sees the ambulance capabilities: "A modern ambulance is a rolling ER (Emergency Room) and has direct contact with ER doctors. Modern EMS providers treat everything from a cut on the finger to heart attacks and everything in between - minor surgery to help people breathe, from choking to trauma; restart hearts that have stopped; shocking hearts that beat too fast and give medications for various medical emergencies."

Mr. Pratt has been with Bethel Ambulance Service 15 years. He is employed full time by the Portland Fire Department and as part-time paramedic in Bethel.

On board supplies for an ambulance include 120 items ranging from stuffed animals, bottled water and band-aids to an OB kit and catheters. Additionally the ambulance "med box" holds another 40 items.

Mrs. Bennett took me on a walkthrough of the center itself. There are four main sections. One for training, a combination lounge and work area for online reporting, two bedrooms for on-duty members who live over six miles away, a director's office plus bathrooms and a small kitchen. Large wall closets in the training room are loaded with supplies for ambulance use.

There have been six directors since the ambulance service was created: John Greenleaf, Laura Plawlock, Florence Merrill, Arlene Greenleaf, Dustin Howe and Cheryl Bennett. For the 1975 report, Mr. Greenleaf wrote: "The Bethel Ambulance Service went into service on April 1, 1975, with a vehicle loaned to us by the Miller-Meteor Sales while our new unit was being made ready for us. After much delay caused by labor strikes at the Wayne Corporation Plant where our unit was being made, delivery was made on July 17. We made the first run with the new unit within a half hour after delivery."

During the period April 1 through December 31, (1975) we responded to 103 calls. This projected over a 12 month period would be about 138 calls - 18 more calls than the high expected. (By comparison, from April 1, 2009 to December 31, 2009, the service responded to 243 calls.)

"The Bethel Emergency Ambulance and Rescue Service - a nonprofit service organization - supplies the Bethel Ambulance Service with licensed attendants and manages the service. The attendants, in teams of two, are on call in 12-hour shifts, 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. and 6 p. m. to 6 a. m. The area is very fortunate to have these men and women who have given so much of their time, not only in being on call, but in training and giving aid when needed."

Elwyn Dickey was town manager when the service was formed. For ten years housing the service was a problem. First it was at the fire station, then in a rented space at the SAD 44 bus garage. In 1985 when Rodney Lynch was town manager a new garage on Cross Street was approved and occupied in October 1985. In 1992, BAS received approval to operate at the Paramedic level. On Sept. 19, 1995 the ambulance building was moved from Cross Street to Main and Railroad Street where it stands today. After the move and before it was occupied, a lot of work was done to the building by George Olson and crew. Madeleine Henley was town manager and the Bethel Station development project was in full swing.

Big Auction at Clantons

Preparation for Saturday's auction at Norm and Sylvia Clanton's house had cars stopping two days before the event. Gaidis Auction Company of Bryant Pond was in charge. With over 80 cars - many out-of-state plates - of registered bidders and onlookers parked along the highway, auctioneering started promptly at 10 a.m. The entire day's unfolding and earlier setups were very well organized. Joe Gaidis was the auctioneer; he auctioned nonstop until about 3:30 - never taking a break. Registration was handled indoors. A lunch stand with hot dogs and sodas was conveniently set up near the big tent. Stuff passed under the gavel fast and there were lots of big furniture items, a canoe - even a case of old milk bottles. The most noticeable high-value item that I saw was a baby grand piano which had been in the house since the early 1930s.

It has been nearly 40 years since an auction like Saturday's happened in Mayville. That one was to auction off the furniture and other artifacts that had belonged to the late Violet Campbell. She had lived in the house now owned by the Murphys and next to the White's. That auction allegedly was handled by a New York outfit.

Bethel Bicycle's Hybrid

If you have noticed, all season Bethel Bicycle's special message board has "tweeted" about their hybrid bikes. I finally stopped in to see what the bikes look like. They are not electrically-powered bikes with solar panels and small gas engines. They are Schwinn bikes that have combined all the good features everyday bikers want - in contrast to the racing bikes, mountain bikes, etc., that are designed for a special purpose. The hybrid has tires that are fatter than the racers skinny tires but not as fat as mountain bike tires. The handle bars are higher relative to the seat so riders don't have to crouch over the handle bars with their butt higher than their shoulders. And like your grandmother's bike the hybrid has fenders and a rear carrier. In a word, the bike design's goal is comfort. Stop in at Bethel Bicycle and try one out.

Lincoln Street shopping

Last week two new mobile vendors were testing the Lincoln Street market. A couple from Upton, Ed Bennett and Nancy Thew, doing business as Northern Lights Farm offered fruit spreads, crochet items, postcards and printed business accessories. Nancy Thew is the owner of this business.

The second party had set up a modern chuck wagon with hot dogs, kielbasa, and jalapeno and cheese smoked sausage with drinks and chips. Wait till next week for me to get her name.

New pieces of Sunday River history

For the dozens anxiously waiting for news on Sunday River history's progress -

Early this summer Randy Bennett received an 84-page manuscript from researcher Howard Kaepplein which include many details about Benjamin Barker's arrival in Sudbury Canada thence to that unnamed river in 1780. An amusing story fragment is: Benjamin Barker arrived at Fryeburg from Methuen, Mass., after going down the Merrick River, up the Atlantic to Saco then up the Saco River to Fryeburg. He got there to find that his contact, James Swan, had left Fryeburg for Sudbury Canada. Swan advised Barker to follow him because Swan thought that Fryeburg was getting too crowded. Swan's message also told Barker that it is only 30 miles and if you walk quickly you can make it in a day.

Other material that is new to the collection includes the story of how Outward Bound was established in Sunday River - courtesy of Jeff Parsons. Profiles of Julia Fleet, Floyd Verrill and Eva Jackson Bacon were found in the 1980 Citizen. Barbara Honkala sent me a detailed profile of Charles Hastings and Suzi Harrington has opened the door to the history of the Eames-Philbrook-Roberts-Harrington farm. To see what has been done so far, web search (Google, etc.) to quickly find Brief History of Sunday River Valley or go to the Bethel Journals home page.

West Bethel

By Lorrie Hoeh

Normal summer weather seems to be in force for now, without the excessive heat and humidity. But you know what they say: if you don't like the weather, wait a minute.

Mike and I drove out to the Mud City Road in the National Forest on Sunday morning, hoping to find some blackberries. A climb to the top of a mountain ended in seeing many blackberry bushes. The bad news is that there were no ripe berries. However, very close to the Garden of Eden, there are plenty, which will have been made into jam by the time you read this.

On the drive down the forest road, we were dismayed to see whole banks stripped clean of vegetation. Some had been seeded, but we couldn't see the point of removing the soil-holding plants and replacing them with grass seed, which will probably wash away in the first rainfall. Moreover, just about every bit of roadside where lady-slippers grew has been part of this replanting process. I'm sorry, but I resent this greatly. What horticultural wizard came up with this plan?

As I write this, Dave Friday is putting in the walkway from our driveway to the front door. It's looking very nice and will be even better when the new grass he's seeding around it starts to come up. Maybe it will tempt folks to come to the front door. I will have to tape over the non-functioning doorbell button so that people will use the door knocker. I'm told that most visitors will still come to the back door. We'll see.

The pole beans are coming in steadily, as are the cukes, summer squash, and tomatoes. We pulled up the broccoli and planted more lettuce. Meanwhile, the Brussels sprouts are enlarging every day, toward their fall harvest time. It is a constant battle to keep after the Japanese beetles that are ravaging the pole bean foliage. It seems that their abundance is owing to the mild winter we had, so that the grubs in the lawn didn't get killed by deep frost before the snow cover came. Drat!

We have been planting hostas all over the place, thanks to the generosity of Lennie Shaw. He has shared with us some of his bounty of several varieties of hosta which he grows in his garden.

John Applin stopped by the other day with a pot of coreopsis for our flower garden. This was by way of saying thank you for my having made a small repair on a sweater for him. Just the words would have been enough, but the plant is much appreciated.

Pauline Applin e-mailed me with the names of other Grange members who have been helping "to sell fleas" at the Grange Flea Market on Fridays and Saturdays. She says that Lorraine Anderson, Elsie Aylward, Ina Grover and Marge Winsor have all worked as sales people. Also, members Dave and Kathy De Gruttola, who happen to be Applins' neighbors in West Bethel, graciously keep the grounds mowed all summer. The group is small; but, everyone is helpful.

She added that four Grangers attended the 90th birthday reception for long-time Grange member Peggy Blake on July 17 at Franklin Grange in Bryant Pond, where Peggy is a member. It was a wonderful celebration for a very nice lady, with music and dancing, and of course, lots of munchies, including a large cake. In Pauline's words, "a good time was had by all."

We're always open to learning of other West Bethel news. Please be in touch with me at dhoeh@megalink.net or 824-2917.

Hanover

By Clem Worcester

Many folks may have noticed along Route 2 several fellows, a dog and the world. The world is a large ball with the earth painted on it. The dog's name is Nice. The two fellows are father and son, Eric and Ethan Bendt from Kentucky. They are walking their canvas world for diabetes awareness. The trip started April 22 in Washington, D.C., and will end in Maine at Acadia when they get there. One of the trip's highlights was to hike up the Mount Washington Auto Road that was permitted to take place after the road was closed to traffic for the day. Last Saturday they stopped in Hanover to take a break and chat about their reasons for hiking. Find more at www.worldguy.org

Congratulations to Megan Smith of Hanover for achieving dean's list status for the spring semester at the University of Maine at Farmington.

Tragedy seemed to echo around Howard Pond last week as one of the baby loons died at the hands of nature. Also, last week two of the gray fox puppies who are part of a family of gray foxes we have told you about lost their lives while crossing Main Street during the night. Naturalist and author Ernest Thompson Seton wrote that all creatures of the wild die a tragic death. It seems to be so.

Gordon and Chris Howe traveled to Springfield, Mass., last weekend to attend a family reunion.

Dan Force is recovering after surgery last week. We wish him speedy healing.

Local members of the Knights of Pythias traveled to Rindge, N.H., on Sunday to attend a service at Cathedral of the Pines. Making the trip were Michael Bennett, Danny and Janice Bennett from Milton Township, Freeman Farrington from East Andover and Donna and Clem Worcester from Hanover.

The gardens are growing great this year. Lots of string beans have been canned or frozen, pickles made, wild berry jams put up and locally-grown corn on the cob is already available. Do you suppose winter will come two weeks early too?

Several local people have hiked onto Rumford Whitecap in search of those extra special sweet blueberries.

Summer is winding down and moms started the school shopping. Trappers Weekend is just around the corner also.

I want to apologize for not making my phone calls this weekend. All the drains in my house were clogged up thus talk about dishes piling up! I promise to do better next week again.

Thank you for all the answers to the Trivia. All were correct. In 1887, which by the way was

Andover

By Melinda Averill

Hello Andover friends. Welcome to Olde Home weekend. As you are all aware, there's lots of activities going on this weekend. For those that don't know, see the schedule in the paper, also in town they are at the businesses.

Sign-ups for the arm wrestling will be at 2:45 p.m. on the church steps.

Vicky and Marshall Meisner would like to extend a thank-you to Foster Tabb and Victor Peterson for their help in painting the gazebo.

The Andover Recreation Committee is sponsoring a bike riding incentive program for all ages this fall. The program will be run much like the walking program with incentive awards at varying mile markers recorded. This program is being supported by the River Valley Healthy Communities organization. There will be a sign-up and informational meeting for anyone interested on Monday, Aug. 9, at 7 p.m. at the Andover Town Hall; children need to be accompanied by an adult.

The Andover Library will be open extended hours on Olde Home Days – 11 a.m. until 4:30. The wagon ride will be making a stop there this year on their journey around the mile square. There will be an Art Show downstairs, a book sale upstairs, and a bake sale outside. Please remember to make this one of your stops on Saturday!

The following was sent to me by Polly highlighting her happenings last week: "Dick and Polly Johnston. We have been visiting friends and relatives. Besides that there's all these lobster and chocolate donuts to be eaten! Our daughter, Joye Reier, will be here on Aug. 4 for two weeks. A big coincidence, her friend Brad Best is on the same plane as she is! Talked to our daughter Julie Merrill in Alaska, near the North Pole, and she was at the beach in 80-degree heat. I should be on the 'common selling and signing my book, 'Once upon a Memory,' on Saturday."

Gilead

The humidity seems to have left us for a little while. The nights are cooler and sleeping is a lot better.

Progress on the removal of the old bridge over Wild River is coming right along. There were two sections removed when we drove by the other day. The traffic on the new road through town is flying right by.

Hugh and I attended the Countryfolk Music Theatre in Dixfield last Saturday. The theme was Old Prospector's Day. Besides several groups playing country music throughout the day, there were mineral displays to look at. Larry Bisbee was in charge and made sure that everyone was having a great time. The money that they raise goes to youth music scholarships.

Norm Buttrick stopped at the house this past week to work on some paperwork for the Gilead Historical Society. He is applying for an archeology grant to do some work for the GHS.

My brother, Steve McLain, and "Tink" Konkright attended the bus conference at Sugarloaf last week. They spent the day going to classes that will help them with their jobs at the maintenance building for SAD 44.

Upton

By Laurie Brown

Pete Eames graded Back Street and Kenny Gibbons rock-raked it – I assume Barnes Road was also done, but I can't verify that because I haven't been off the mountain for a few days.

Bobby Thompson and I shared the "foreman" position while Bob Brown and Joe Bernier put steel on Joe's roof. It was incredibly hard work, but someone had to do it.

Only sixteen more days until Upton's Fun Day/Sesquicentennial celebration! Do you have your float for the parade done? Have you invited all your friends and neighbors and relatives? Great – see you there.

Marcia Sherman was totally surprised at at birthday party held in her honor. Marcia and Jim, from Attleboro, Mass., spend most of their weekends at Paradise Point. Marcia is a member of the Ladies Aid Association. She was so emotional at her surprise party that she cried and said, "It's my party and I'll cry if I want to and being 60 rots." You don't look (or act) a day over 30, though, Marcia.

Have a stupendous week. Selah

Newry

By Seneca Corriveau

I am pleased to report that life here on the farm has settled into the gentle swing of summer. The first two weeks after the arrival of new babies are generally tumultuous regardless of whether your kids have two legs or four.

Bottle feedings have slowed to twice a day unless it's been quite hot and then the girls get an afternoon snack to wet their whistles. I relish the sounds that filter in through the window carried on the breeze. Little baby chicks with their "peep, peep, peep" following the clucking, cooing calls of mommy when she's found something tasty to eat and the sweet. Baby goats calling "maa, maa, maa" hoping for playmates to bound around with.

Our gardens have kicked into high gear, I cannot believe how fantastic mine looks this year! I don't mention this in any way to brag or be boastful, I am just stunned.

To explain this shocking phenomenon one must first understand the soil composition here at this end of the valley. Rock!

You see, that is all there is here beneath my feet, big rocks, little rocks and teeny-weeny rocks. When it came time to dig drainage test holes for our septic, we were supposed to dig three holes, 1 foot across by 2 feet deep.

Each hole took about an hour, hitting a boulder after going down six or eight inches, having to reset and start over.

So inspection day came and the man we hired came over, looked into the first hole and said, "Well, I guess we don't have a drainage problem here!" He was content after seeing just one but I informed him that he was going to look into each hole after I struggled so to dig them. He laughed and obliged me.

There is no organic matter in the "soil" here so it seemed only logical, after hauling load after load of manure to get animals and create our own. And finally, this year, I have lush, green, producing gardens that take up much of my time with their maintenance but keep me smiling all the while.

Hooray, I will be filling the freezer and our bellies this year with the fruits of our labor. Is there a more rewarding feeling? "Norman Davis" vegetable stand now has fresh tomatoes! I stopped there the other day on my way to town to pick up a few cukes to snack on and was impressed with his barrels of herbs. They smelled so delightful.

I was trying to come up with a reason to pick some of his Summer Savory but couldn't think of a recipe off the top of my head that called for it - do any of you? The herbs are bounding out of their confinement, just waiting for you to come by and use them. Lemon Thyme is fantastic tossed with sliced zucchini and sautéed in butter with just a dash of salt and pepper, yum!

Bear River Trading Post has new flies for fly fishing. They are impeccably tied and the "Maple Syrup" fly is their top seller. They carry a wide array of unique items at the Trading Post. It's fun to go in every so often just to see what's new. I am prone to procrastination and have found some really neat birthday gifts there; I can't begin to tell you the number of times that I've been saved by stopping there.

MAINE'S FIRST LADY, Karen Baldacci, toured the Bethel Historical Society and nearby Hastings Homestead Thursday afternoon, July 29. She was accompanied by Sue Plummer, the Blaine House Residence Director, and Earle G. Shettleworth, Jr., State Historian and Director of the Maine Historic Preservation Commission. Since 2007, when her husband was inaugurated as Maine's 73rd governor, Mrs. Baldacci has visited numerous museums and historic sites throughout the state to get a first hand look at the unique places that preserve Maine's history and give the state its special character. The First Lady ended her afternoon in Bethel with a visit to the circa 1922 Mount Zircan Bottle Lunch Stand, which was recently added to the National Register of Historic Places. By Richard Grover Snuffy had a rough week last week. On Tuesday morn we were awakened at about 5:30a.m. by Snuffy barking in the front yard. This wasn't his usual gruff "Rouff Rouff Rouff" It was more like, "Rouff" pause, "Rouff" pause, etc. I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter; looking out the front sunroom windows, I first saw Snuffy rolling on the grass in the yard. Then I spied a smallish skunk with an almost totally white back, tail up, slowly backing away from Snuffy from about six feet distance. I decided to try and get Snuffy away from the skunk before he got sprayed again. I grabbed Snuffy's leash and stepped outside the door to call him off. As soon as I hollered, I could see that Snuffy got the wrong idea. He assumed I was going to support him in the fight! He immediately grabbed the skunk and began violently shaking it! Right then I knew it was useless for me to even try to get involved, so I went back to bed.

When we got up, Snuffy was lying peacefully in his usual spot on the doormat outside the kitchen door. I went to get the paper and to see if I could find the skunk. At first, I found just the south end; then the head end, but the middle was gone! Snuffy is the first dog I've known that would eat a skunk! Phew!!

Late Friday afternoon, I took Snuffy for one of our usual walks in my woods on the other side of Hutchinson Brook. After making my loop and heading home, I saw no sign of Snuffy; I didn't think of anything unusual, because Snuffy often beats me home. As I neared our driveway, I could hear Snuffy panting as he came trotting down the road behind me. As he trotted by, heading for the house, I took a close look, and didn't like what I saw. The left side of his jaw, his tongue and nose were filled with porcupine quills!

When we got home, Mona and I tethered Snuffy tightly between two deck support posts. She held a towel tightly over Snuffy's eyes, and I was able to cut the ends off most of the quills with scissors, but was able to only pull a few quills out before he got too grouchy for me. First thing Saturday morning I called the vet hospital where we normally take him and got an appointment to have the quills removed. That afternoon we brought him home with a couple bottles of pills and a much lighter wallet!

Perfect summer weather has been with us for two weeks. There is promise of at least another week of the same. People's flower gardens are in full bloom and are beautiful everywhere. Wild flowers cover the fields and roadsides. It seems a bit early but the goldenrod is everywhere tall and bright yellow.

On Sunday, Aug. 8, the Rev. Richard Beal will be the speaker at the West Sumner Universalist Church. The service starts at 11a.m. followed by a coffee hour.

The West Paris Universalist Church Goodwill Fellowship met last week at the home of Peg Turner in South Paris. The entertainment was swimming. Several enjoyed the warm pool. Peg's husband, Gilbert Turner, tended the grill and cooked hamburgs and red hot dogs to perfect

This will be a very quick column because I am off to a new physical therapist at the doctor's orders. Pat is the woman David used to see for his physical therapy needs.

The weather has improved in that it hasn't been so hot, but has been sunny and warm anyway. I am not a hot-weather person. For now, heat and showers are predicted for the week. We need the rain - the rivers and lakes are low - and I hope our roof gets finished anyway.

August is a big month for the library. There is a story time program on Mondays at 1 p.m. For children ages 2 thru 6. It is a chance to listen to stories and check out the library.

Aug. 7, starting at 6 p.m., Mt. Tirem Lodge has their annual lobsterfest. There will be chicken and lobster and sides available for all. This is a major fundraiser for the lodge for their activities throughout the year.

That will be all for this week. I am off for the day. Have a safe week and stay off those skateboards - you know whom I am talking to.

HE'LL FLY AGAIN—This broad-winged hawk was found in the road on the North Road in Bethel on Sunday with a broken left wing. Animal Control Officer Ozzie Hart collected the bird in a carrier, and after checking with game wardens, took it to a wildlife rehabilitator in Bridgton. Hart said the hawk's prognosis is good. Here, the bird demonstrates there is nothing wrong with its right wing. (Photo: A. Aloisio)

LEAGUE CHAMPS—The Bethel Fury won the Oxford Hills Summer Softball Championship Saturday. Front: Wynter Morin, Emily Philbrick, Gabi Stone, Blair Stevens, Natasha Hart. Summer Softball

Bethel Fury wins OH Summer Softball Championship: Bethel 8, Mechanic Falls 0; July 31—As was the case in previous playoff games, the Fury started out strong and played great team defense. Bethel scored in every inning except the fourth on hits by Kijah Bartlett, Emma Scheidegger, Shaynah Seames, Emileigh Parsons (double) and Jessica Dirago (double). But the stingy defense was the highlight of the game. The only threat that Mechanic Falls was able to muster was when coach Mark Dirago sent in the sign for a change up. The second batter of the game jumped on the pitch and drove it deep into left field for a triple. She was then stranded there when Jessica Dirago struck out 2 batters to end the inning. Other than that one coaching mistake, Jessica was virtually unhittable, racking up 12 strikeouts in the first 5 innings. After a long at-bat, the first Mechanic Falls batter of the sixth reached base by a walk, and the rest of the Fury defense answered the call. Kijah Bartlett caught a popup behind second base and quickly threw out the runner at first for a double play. Mechanic Falls' biggest threat with the bat, Susan Gary, was then retired with a lazy popup to Emma Scheidegger at third base. Shaynah Seames backed up to catch yet another popup at shortstop to start the seventh, and Emileigh Parsons fielded a ground ball at first to retire the second out. Jessica Dirago struck out the last batter of the game and the celebration began. The entire Bethel Fury team deserves credit for working so hard this year. They came together and played with all their hearts, giving 110 percent all year. It was a joy coaching them, and watching them play. I am extremely proud of each and every one of them. Great job "Champs." — Coach Mark Dirago

FARM LEAGUE CHAMPS—The Woodstock Tigers Farm League Team of the Oxford Hills Summer Softball program won the league championship Saturday by defeating Otisfield 4-3. The 7-11-year-olds lost only one game all season. Pictured are, kneeling: Kylee Martin, Morgan Prentice, Tehya Johnson, Elle Bailey, Ashley Childs, Bethany Weymouth, Ella Kellogg. Middle: Brook Carson, Ana Rossow, Erin Childs, Rebecca Morin, Josie Forbes, Myklah Bennett. Back: Coaches Rob Rossow, Echoo Corliss, Fred Johnson, Jeff Prentice. Absent: Emalee Coffin.

County Democrat offices open

The Oxford County Democrats have opened two offices for the 2010 campaign, in Norway and Rumford. While grand openings will occur later in the summer, the offices are functioning at 310 Main Street in Norway and 432 Hancock Street in Rumford.

Both offices have interns organizing activities with Chloe Bergman-Ray of West Paris assigned to the Norway office and Lydia McHugh of Mexico and Lanette Bryant of Dixfield assigned to the Rumford office. All are college students and will be busy training interns for the fall from local high schools as well as working with volunteers of all ages. For information about the intern program or volunteering in the offices, visit Oxford County ME Democrats on Facebook, or call Cathy Newell at 875-2116.

Plans are in the works for the annual Oxford County Democrats BBQ fundraiser at the University of Maine 4-H Camp (formerly Maine Conservation School) on Lake Christopher in Bryant Pond. The event will run from 4:30 to 7:30 on Sunday, Aug. 29, and will feature a social time and a traditional cookout menu with all the fixings in the dining hall, followed by a program. Local candidates and state party leaders are expected to attend. Tickets are $20 per person, with children under 10 at $5. Attendees are welcome to come earlier and enjoy the opportunities for hiking and swimming. Please reserve tickets by calling 875-2116.

For information about the Oxford County Democrats, visit the Facebook Page or the website, www.oxforddems.org.

Summer Heritage Festival

The Bethel Historical Society's Summer Heritage Festival will begin on Friday, Aug. 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the Dr. Moses Mason House Exhibit Hall with the 19th Annual Hall Memorial Lecture. This year's presenter will be Ardis Cameron, director and professor of American and New England Studies at the University of Southern Maine. Her lecture is entitled "Unbuttoning New England: Peyton Place and the Undocumented Past." Professor Cameron, who holds a Ph.D. from Boston College, has lectured, written and published widely about women, cultural politics and working class history.

A 1956 novel written by Grace Metalious, "Peyton Place," sold 60,000 copies within the first ten days of its release and remained on the New York Times best seller list for over a year. The main plot follows the lives of three women—lonely and repressed Constance MacKenzie, her illegitimate daughter, Allison, and her employee, Selena Cross, a girl who came

(as the book expresses it) "from the shacks." The novel provides details on how they come to terms with their identities as women and sexual beings in a small New England town. Hypocrisy, social inequities and class privilege are major themes in this book's treatment of such subjects as incest, abortion, adultery, lust, and murder. The Hall Memorial Lecture is free and open to all interested persons.

On Saturday, Aug. 14, from 1 to 4 p.m., a variety of activities will take place under a large tent between the society's two Broad Street properties; these will include appraisals by Jay Boschetti; special displays, and craft demonstrations. There will also be guided walking tours of the Bethel Historic District, games and activities for children, guided tours of the Dr. Moses Mason House and exhibits in both of the historical society buildings, including an exhibition of paintings by the late Helen Anna Morton.

At 5 p.m., an Antiquarian Supper will be held in the Dr. Moses Mason Exhibit Hall. This old-time event dates back to 1855 in Bethel, and those attending partake of a bountiful meal typical of Bethel's early days. Participants will be encouraged (but not required) to dress up in old-fashioned clothes (anything not current), share stories of "olden times," and bring a "relic" (antique or collectible) to exhibit and describe. Those attending will view a Magic Lantern show and end the evening by singing old-time musical favorites. Donations of $10 are requested for adults, and $5 for 18 and under. To reserve a seat, please call the society at 824-2908/(800) 824-2910, or e-mail info@bethelhistorical.org.

AUTONORTH PRE-OWNED SUPERSTORE

Proudly supporting our local communities.

Operation School Supplies is in its 12th year and is the collaboration of New Hampshire Catholic Charities and the Family Resource Center. The program supplies new backpacks and school supplies such as pencils, zippered binders, rulers, index cards, pens, crayons, pencil boxes, filler paper, notebooks, markers and other items that are requested. Many families are struggling and this program helps reduce some of the financial stress that can come with the new school year. The much-needed supplies ensure that the kids will be prepared to start the new year off right. Last year alone the program served over 300 local school children.

Shawn Hanlon and Don Noyes of AutoNorth Pre-owned Superstore in Gorham, NH presented a $1,025 donation to Donna Piet and Nicole Plourde this week, representing $25 from each car sale in the month of July. The dealership has pledged this community support to organizations in its entire service area.
